

Caledonian Mercury, 18th August 1834.

'...the most noble the Marquis of Douglas and Clydesdale has communicated to the Glasgow Ossianic Society through their Vice-President, the Rev. Dr M'Leod of Campsie, that he has great pleasure in becoming the Patron and President of the Society. The Noble Marquis, we are given to understand, is no mean adept in the mountain tongue, and we congratulate this excellent society on its good fortune in falling in with such a hand. The noble President was on his way to Germany when he wrote...'
